

WebDewey Deutsch

WebDewey Deutsch was developed on the basis of the American WebDewey application and adapted for users in German-speaking countries to ensure that the familiar MelvilClass functions remained available in WebDewey Deutsch.

WebDewey Deutsch contains the data from the 22nd edition of the printed version of the German DDC plus many updates of DDC 23 which are continuously being integrated into the system.

WebDewey Deutsch functionalities

- Access to the latest DDC updates through regular updates in WebDewey Deutsch
- Access to many presynthesised DDC numbers which are only available in the web version
- Generation of additional built numbers (institutional and personal) with the aid of a number building tool
- Generation of institutional and personal comments using the comments function
- Links between DDC numbers and terms (subject headings, geographic names) contained in the Integrated Authority File (GND) to provide additional search vocabulary
- Possibility to transfer DDC numbers and their components automatically to a local cataloguing application
- Thousands of DDC index terms as search vocabulary

Use fees

The annual fee for using WebDewey Deutsch applies for one institution at one site

Business Model

Terms of use and subscription

Since 1 July 2015 all bibliographic data of the German National Library and the authority data of the Integrated Authority File (GND) will be provided free of charge and can be freely re-used under »Creative Commons Zero« (CC0 1.0) terms.

The data can be obtained via online interfaces (Data Shop, SRU or OAI interface etc.) following initial registration and authorisation (registration free of charge).

Provision

The basic procedure for users to obtain data from the German National Library is for them to download the data themselves in standard formats via online interfaces.

Provision charges will be applied by the German National Library for active provision of data via FTP or WWW server which are not included in the basic service. The corresponding list of charges is published annually on 1 April and then applies from 1 July.

Three months advance notice will be given of fundamental changes to the delivery formats provided.
